

There is not too much violence on TV. But even if there is, who cares? TV's still come with on on/off button and a dial to change the station. Regulate the existance of those 2 options, and leave the choice of content to us.